Items Raised

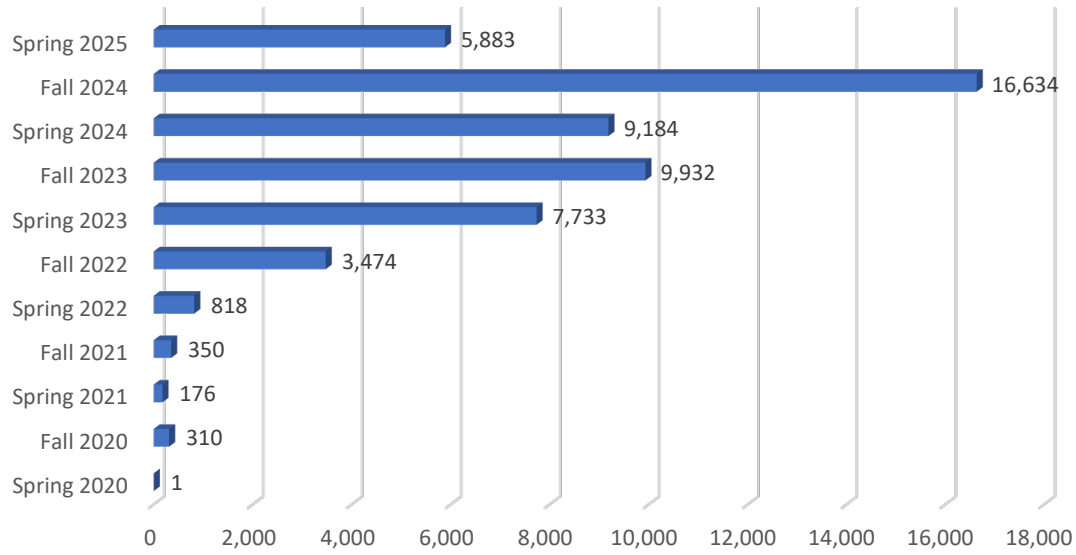

The items raised include the use of flags, kudos, referrals and To-do's. The items are raised manually and the survey system. The development of new flags and kudos have adjusted but continue to be a key component each semester. The growth and development of the Starfish system is with the introduction and implementation of referrals to student services and To-Do's that notify students of actions that need to be completed.

Attendance Surveys:

One of the earliest indicators of student engagement and belonging is attendance. The Financial Aid Attendance survey allows the opportunity for the Financial Aid to accurately report those students that have not attended courses. While additionally, allowing South Texas College support staff to reach out to students that have not attended courses during the first week of class. Additionally, the Dual Credit Attendance survey makes reaching out to students, High School partners easier with the implementation of the surveys within Starfish
